Movement Urged to Relieve Shortage of Property in Circleville

35 MEN VOTE SUPPORT

Various Steps Necessary Explained at Tuesday Evening Meeting

Circleville's Chamber of Commerce is going to show "home minded" residents how they can own a new home.

After hearing a complete explanation of the Federal Housing Administration program Tuesday evening, members unanimously endorsed a model home project, then learned a member had a prospect who would purchase the home when it is completed.

Thirty-five members heard P. B. Daley, field representative of the FHA, discuss the program from all angles. He urged the organization to lead Circleville residents in a building program to relieve the tremendous home shortage in this city.

May Cause More Building

"I firmly believe a home building project by the Chamber of Commerce will lead to the construction of 25 new homes in Circleville this summer," Daley said. "This organization can plant the seed of home ownership here and it is the duty of a Chamber of Commerce to lead the community in this matter of civic importance. "If this organization constructs a model home it will have no worries about disposing of it. Many residents will say 'I want one like it.' You will have six months in which to sell the home to a qualified purchaser after it is completed. Bonus money here will amount to over $400,000 and you can sell no better idea to veterans than that of buying a home. "Hazards of buying and owning have been wiped out by the FHA. The administration does not lend money but acts as an insurance agency for the banks. It is possible to build and buy a home with a 20 per cent down payment either in cash or in a lot. There are no second mortgages. On a $4,000 loan the monthly payments would be approximately $35 including insurance and taxes. This would be financed over a period of 20 years. Do Not Lose Equity "There are no deficiency judgments under the plan. Purchasers do not lose their equity under an

THREE ENJOY THEIR ANNUAL BIRTHDAY FETE

John B. Majors, N. Court-st., William M. Reid, E. Union-st., and Mrs. George H. Young of Waverly, former Circleville resident, held their twenty-fourth annual birthday dinner Tuesday evening in the American hotel coffee shop.

Mrs. Reid was hostess and Mr. Young a guest. The table was decorated with sweet peas, tapers and in the center was a birthday cake decorated with the three ages, 88, 68 and 48. The parties started when Mr. Majors was county recorder and Mr. Reid was a deputy in the county treasurer's office. They were eating lunch together, discovered their birthdays were on the same day, and decided to hold parties together. Later they learned Mrs. Young's birthday was on the same day and invited her to take part in the annual celebrations.

'BLACK LEGION' HEARING BRIEF

Members Taken Before Court, Then Sent to Jail

DETROIT, May 27.—(UP)—Examination of 13 members of the Black Legion charged with the kidnapping and murder of Charles A. Poole, 32, was adjourned today for six days despite the objections of their attorneys. All were ordered returned to county jail after Judge Ralph W. Liddy refused to entertain motions for bail.

Wayne-co Prosecutor Duncan C. McCrea, who is investigating reports of wide-spread terrorist activities of the Legion, requested the adjournment in order that his office might pursue its inquiry. He promised the court that "within four or five days I anticipate we will be able to bring other defendants into court and have a hearing for all of them at one time."

THIMBLE LOST FOR 20 YEARS LOCATED

A silver thimble lost 20 years ago was found this week in Derby when Earl Puckett was spading the garden of Mrs. Alma Hays.

Puckett noticed a shining article, and picked it up. The dirt was cleaned off and Mrs. Hays reports the thimble as good as new.

Herald Published Today On New 16-page Press

Equipment Makes Circleville's Newspaper One of Most Modern in Nation; Earlier Delivery Assured; Public Invited to Watch Fast Operation

Circleville's newspaper has gone completely modern. Beginning with this issue, The Herald will be produced each day in exactly the same manner as are the world's largest newspapers. The flatbed press, manufactured generally for cities of this size, has been replaced with a Duplex tubular press that prints papers at the rate of 36,000 an hour as compared with a speed of 4,000 an hour on the press it replaces. Gone are the days of smudgy, hard to read papers. Earlier delivery is assured.

Purchase and installation of the new press and its attendant equipment were prompted by The Circleville Herald's confidence in the future of the city and belief that the community is entitled to as good a newspaper as can be produced. Such a heavy investment is not made by a newspaper anywhere except in cities of the greatest promise.

Early Delivery Assured

If you have about your home a copy of The Herald printed previously to yesterday compare it for readability with this issue. The difference in print, coupled with increased speed, are the big reasons behind the installation. The old press required almost two hours to produce the daily edition. The new mechanism will complete the run in less than 15 minutes. Newsboys will be on their routes earlier than ever before in the history of the paper and at the same time The Herald will be carrying later news than has been possible until this time.

Installation of the new press is another important step in production of a constantly improving

S. J. CLINE PROPERTY ESTIMATED AT $7,264.77

An inventory and appraisal filed in probate court Tuesday values the estate of S. J. Cline, Harrison-twp., at $7,264.77. Real estate was appraised at $5,207.12, accounts receivable $471.65, securities $500 and personal goods $1,086.

Appraisers were J. V. Thomas, S. W. Cummins and Key Reed. William H. Cline is administrator.

HELVERING NEW COUNTY LEADER OF DEMOCRATS

Central Committee Meets to Organize; Howard is Secretary Again

PICK EXECUTIVE JUNE 3

Move Started to Reduce Other Group from 40 to 28 Members

Clarence Helvering, 470 E. Main-st., is the new chairman of the Pickaway-co Democratic executive committee succeeding Cecil Briggs, New Holland's new postmaster. The local service station owner and coal dealer was elected Tuesday evening when 22 of the county's 41 committee members met in the courthouse. George G. Adkins, chairman of the executive committee, presided.

Mr. Helvering was elected in a contest with William B. Cady, S. Seloto-st., former mayor, and C. E. Meyers of Washington - twp., former county board of education member.

Howard Secretary

William T. J. Howard, 370 E. Union-st., was re-elected secretary of the committee. He had no opposition.

The new chairman announced Wednesday that the central committee and the various Democratic nominees for office will meet next Wednesday evening, June 3, to select the executive committee.

Several central committee members are seeking to reduce the executive body from 40 members to 28, believing that the larger number is too unwieldy for successful operation.

Mr. Helvering, a native of Washington-twp., has been a Democrat all his life. He is active civically and is generally considered a wise selection for the important position.

WOODMEN ADD 17 TO MEMBERSHIP; WILES SPEAKER

Approximately 125 Modern Woodmen of Circleville and six other camps attended the initiation program Tuesday evening in the Woodman Hall, First National Bank building.

Seventeen candidates were initiated into the lodge. The work was under the direction of the Circleville camp degree team. After the initiation an address on lodge work was given by William Wiles, Toledo, state manager of the Modern Woodmen of America. Refreshments were served at the conclusion of the meeting.

Camps represented were Ashville, Mt. Sterling, New Holland, Williamsport, Commercial Point and Columbus.

"Bad Boy" Zioncheck Returns

RETURNING to New York after a tour of the Caribbean, Representative Sharon Zioncheck (D-) of Washington state, the congressional "bad boy," is back to go again. Zioncheck told reporters that he has brought a message along with him so as to "pedal back to his job" if the police took his car away from him.

TEST OF POWER MRS. STEVENSON TRIAL DELAYED SELLS BUSINESS

Government is Considered Winner in Nebraska

WASHINGTON, May 27.—(UP)—Nebraska's PWA-utility district Supreme Court suit was postponed today until late fall.

The delay, interpreted as a victory for the government, was negotiated along with a new temporary injunction for five power companies against the Platte Valley, Loup river and tri-county Hydro-Electric PWA projects. The new injunction had these provisions:

1. Platte valley and Loup river may complete their projects according to original plans.
2. Work on tri-county will be limited to irrigation, with no installation of generators or power facilities.
3. Acquisition of a site for Keystone dam will be limited to one-half the reservoir's original capacity.

Washington C. H. Resident to Open Next Week

Mrs. H. G. Stevenson, W. Union-st., Wednesday announced the sale of the stock of her W. Main-st. furniture store to Elliott Bonnie, Washington C. H.

A contract for the sale was signed Tuesday night. Mrs. Stevenson announced, and the store will be closed Thursday, Friday and Monday to complete arrangements for a formal opening under the new ownership next week. Bonnie has obtained a lease on the building, owned by Mrs. Stevenson.

RADCLIFF NOT NOTIFIED

Pistol, Sawed-Off Gun Used; One Empties Counters of Money

GROVE CITY, May 27.—(UP)—Two young men armed with a pistol and a sawed-off shotgun held up the First National bank here today and escaped with between $1,500 and $1,800.

The robbers lined up a customer and three employees against a wall. Otto Willard, president of the bank, told officials. The one of the two men made the shot and the customer flung his counter and emptied the drawers. They escaped in a new car near the bank.

The office of Sheriff Radcliff had not been notified of the robbery at 3 p. m. when he left for the scene.

Installation of the new press and its attendant equipment makes the Circleville Herald one of the best equipped newspapers in the United States for a city of this size. The press and equipment weigh 71,000 pounds. The new press is another important step in production of a constantly improving newspaper for the city and county. Others equally as important are to follow.

The new press runs daily from 5:30 a. m. to 11 p. m. You are invited to see it in operation.

GRAHAM MAY FACE SUIT CHARGING FALSE ARREST

MISS COUNTIAN TO ASK REFUND AFTER RELEASE

Herbert Rinehart Hints He May Seek Damages; Freed in Cleveland Court

CHILLICOTHE, May 27.—Accused by a jury in a justice of the peace court at Circleville Monday on a charge of driving an automobile while under suspension of driving rights, Herbert Rinehart, 26, Rose-st., planned Wednesday to seek a refund of a $50 fine paid in Mayor W. J. Graham's court and to bring a damage suit against the official for alleged false imprisonment.

The mayor's suspension of Rinehart's driving rights for six months also has been set aside before Frank J. West of the Bureau of Motor Vehicles.

Originally arrested for driving when intoxicated, Rinehart was fined $100 and costs, with $50 of the fine suspended, and his driving rights were suspended for six months.

Later he was sentenced by the mayor to serve six months in jail on a charge that he drove a car in Chillicothe.

On the ground that the mayor has no jurisdiction, he obtained a writ of habeas corpus but was re-arrested on a charge of having driven in Chillicothe. Affidavits of production removed the case from the court of the mayor to that of Squire H. O. Eveland, where the jury trial was conducted Monday.

STATE IS READY TO VOTE RELIEF

Recess for Two Weeks is Expected By House

COLUMBUS, May 27.—(UP)—The Ohio legislature today prepared to enact a temporary "stop-gap" relief measure and recess for at least two weeks.

The senate yesterday passed the Donovan bill as an emergency measure and sent it to the house of representatives for approval. The house was to convene today to consider the bill, with the senate remaining on hand to pass any amendments which may be approved by the lower house.

The Donovan bill authorizes counties which have NOT issued Carey bonds to borrow from the existing $3,000,000 relief rotary fund to meet requirements for April and May. The bill also extends the time for repayment of funds so borrowed until July 15.

At a later date the assembly is expected to draft legislation to care for relief until early next year, with drafting of permanent such legislation to be left to the incoming 92nd general assembly.

Speaker J. Freer Bittinger called the house back into session in a special call issued last night after the senate had completed action on the temporary relief bill.

PRIZE LEGENDS OF HISTORY GO INTO JUNKPILE

LONDON.—(UP)—One of the few remaining unchallenged British historical legends has been debunked at last.

The romantic story that Sir Charles Napier announced the conquest of the Indian province of Sind by sending a telegram to the Governor-General containing the Latin word "Peccavi," which means "I have sinned," was debunked in the House of Lords.

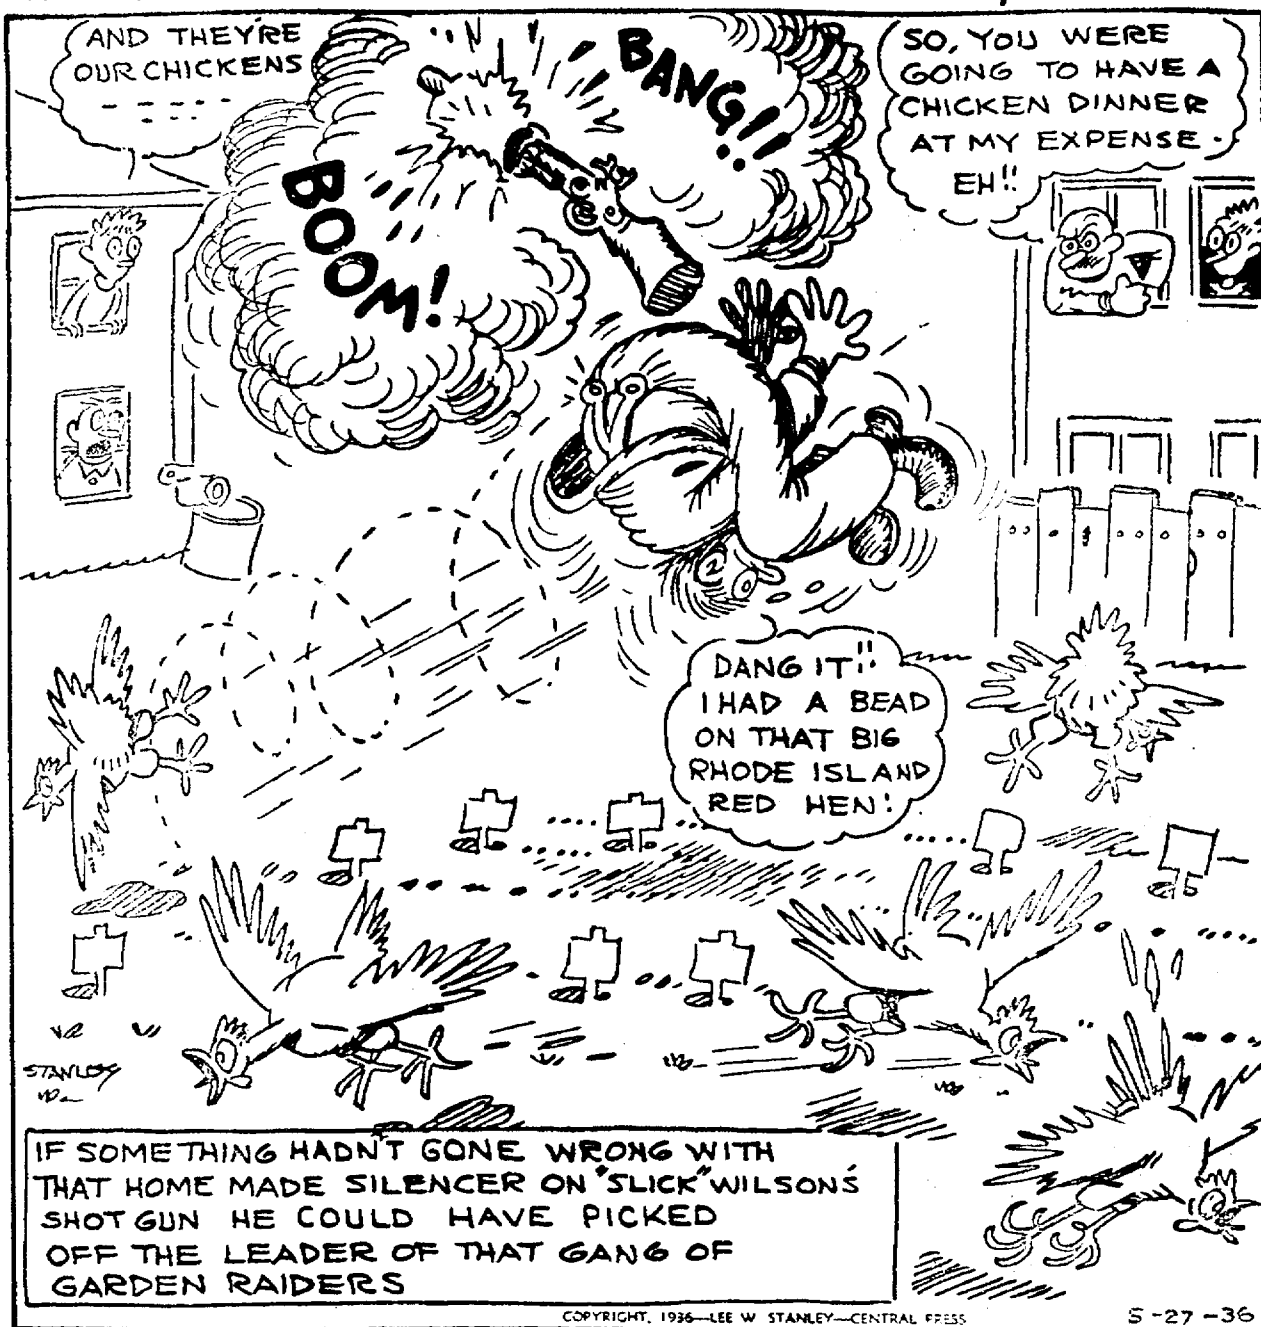

The Marquess of Zetland, Secretary for India, told his fellow peers that although he disliked to spoil a good story, investigation revealed there was foundation for the Napier legend.

Mae Murray Returns to Stage For New "Merry Widow" Walt Years After Screen Farewell

NEW YORK.—(UP)—Mae Murray, former Follies personality girl, is returning to the stage for her first theatrical production since her retirement from it several years ago to "try out" in the movies.

"I'm thrilled with this new production, written by Harry Hays, with the music by Gershwin," she told the United Press today.

"And I'm even more thrilled to be returning to the stage. It is so much more inspiring than the movies and each performance is a fresh test of your genius. The movies are suffocating to artists who have a real inner urge for perfection. I cannot bear to see fine material ruined, both in acting and producing, which is why I could not keep on in the movies."

Miss Murray's first picture was "To Have and to Hold" in 1916, with Wallace Reid as her dancing hero. She began her career at the age of 12 and is a firm believer that work is the one and only fountain of youth.

"I have always worked and worked hard," she said, "and I know that when one is busy one cannot think of growing old. I feel young myself and that is why every one else feels that I too am young. Maturity and experience count for everything but it is the inner urge to work that keeps a person both physically and mentally young."

Dances Written for Action
In the new "story with music" as Miss Murray prefers to call her new show rather than a musical comedy, she will have two exotic dancing numbers especially written for her. The first will be a waltz—"since everyone remembers my waltzing in the moving picture of 'The Merry Widow'" she said.

"The second dance number is a combination of a rumba, a bolero and something entirely new in dance rhythm. It is simply marvelous and expresses my personality better than anything I have done in years. It has the one thing I am always searching for—glamour—for that, to me, is the vital spark. Glamour should have no tinsel glitter about it, for it is the flame within that makes my personality glow. Dancing is really my life. I never tire of it. It is my one diversion in the evening, after a hard day's work of dancing in the theatre, rehearsals, the show, and then more dancing for relaxation and the joy of the dance and the music. I shall dance to my grave!"

Although Miss Murray says she does not take any exercises to keep her figure trim she says she WILLIAM RADCLIFF, who goes to the Republican convention in a couple of weeks as an alternate delegate, holds a fine Jackson-tpw cow in high regard.

One day during some recent high water, the erstwhile Williamsport mayor was driving his automobile over a detour around Route 104. The road took him through some high water, however. Bill found his car stuck and himself stranded.

Then "Bossie" put in her appearance. She grinned quietly to "hizzoner," plodded around the car and put her horns against the back end of the vehicle. She pushed and finally moved the machine. This cow, Mayor Radcliff reports (and who should doubt his word), shoved the car more than 100 yards onto dry ground.

Mr. Radcliff now holds in even higher regard the buttermilk he quaffs each day at Brother Al Cook's, because it might be "Bossie's."

TALL ONES

Do you know any tall stories? If you do please pass them on that someone else may enjoy a laugh.

Speaker J. Freer Bittinger called the house back into session in a special call issued last night after the senate had completed action on the temporary relief bill.

FAMILY MARKS ALL BIRTHDAYS IN SAME MONTH

FAIRVIEW, Kas. (UP)—The Mellenbruch family has a monopoly on July for birthdays.

Mrs. C. F. Mellenbruch of Fairview and her sister, Mrs. Will Barnes, Dodge City, Kas., both celebrate their birthdays on July 15 although they are not twins.

Mrs. Mellenbruch's daughter, Violet Mellenbruch, Red Oak, Ia., and a grandson, Donald Mellenbruch, Powhattan, Kans., celebrate theirs on July 18.

Another daughter, Mrs. Raymond Allee, Morrill, Kas., has a birthday July 13, while Mrs. Allee's daughter, Ruth, celebrates July 6.

Mrs. Mellenbruch's son, Otis, of Fairview, celebrates July 7, while a daughter-in-law, Mrs. Lawrence Mellenbruch, Powhattan, mother of Donald, celebrates July 25.

A third daughter of Mrs. Mellenbruch, Wilma Kathleen, was born July 2 and a grandson, Billie Reynolds, July 31.

To top this off, Mr. and Mrs. Mellenbruch celebrate their wedding anniversary July 20.

PHILADELPHIANS TO OFFER LONG FETE PROGRAM

Convention Crowds to Find Wide Variety of Entertainment

PHILADELPHIA—(UP)—To prove that politics and pleasure do mix—and in the best holiday tradition—the All-Philadelphia Citizens Committee has devised an extensive amusement program to extend throughout the Democratic National Convention.

The conclave itself is scheduled to last only four days, from June 23 to 27. Hotel and transportation reservations indicate, however, that the placid Quaker City will be in the hands of visitors over a 10-day period beginning June 20.

The committee has designed its entertainment program on that basis, and judging from generally completed arrangements, every effort has been made to cater to the most diversified whims and fancies.

Street dances, symphonies, band concerts, outdoor ballet, parades, pageants, sightseeing tours, a regatta, baseball, wrestling, luncheons, dinners, receptions, and a beauty contest are some of the special events listed.

Baseball at Shibe Park
The committee lists the following schedule of major diversions: Saturday, June 20—Wrestling at the Arena; baseball at Shibe Park; Chicago vs. Athletics; band concert at Robin Hood Dell.

June 21—Pittsburgh Pirates vs. Phillies at Baker Bowl; sightseeing trips to Valley Forge and other historic shrines in suburban Philadelphia.

June 22—St. Louis Cardinals vs. Phillies at Baker Bowl; open house of the Women's Committee at Colonial Houses in Fairmount Park, where hostesses and guides will be garbed in period costumes; sight-seeing tours.

In the evening Mayor S. Davis Wilson will be host at a dinner for the 40 visiting governors who are expected to attend the convention. Reception at Historic Hall.

The dinner will be followed by a reception at historic Independence Hall, in the room where the country's fathers signed the Declaration of Independence. Honored with the governors at the reception will be the delegates, alternates, convention officers and other distinguished guests.

June 23—Cardinals vs. Phillies at Baker Bowl; breakfast for women under auspices of Women's Committee; special program at Navy Yard.

At 11 a. m., the first session of the convention will be held. Following a brief organization program, a recess will be called.

The keynote speech of Sen. Alben W. Barkley of Kentucky will be delivered at the night session.

In the afternoon, Mayor Wilson will hold a reception for visiting mayors at the Benjamin Franklin Hotel.

Night Orchestra Concert

June 24—Cardinals vs. Phillies at Baker Bowl; second program at the Navy Yard; afternoon reception and tea for women at the Municipal Art Museum; evening concert in Robin Hood Dell by the Philadelphia Orchestra.

June 25—Cardinals vs. Phillies at Baker Bowl; morning horse show and rodeo at the Municipal Stadium. At night, there will be a gala parade of all uniformed organizations in the city.

June 26—Cincinnati Reds vs.

Phillies at Baker Bowl; reception at Colonial Houses; morning trips to Valley Forge; river trips on the Schuylkill and Delaware in the afternoon.

At night, there will be staged a carnival and dance on the Parkway. A carnival queen for the convention will be chosen and crowned by Mayor Wilson.

June 27—Reds vs. Phillies at Baker Bowl; series of luncheons to be given by various organizations.

"President Roosevelt and Vice President Garner will be notified of their nominations," says the program, "and will deliver speeches of acceptance before 140,000 persons in the University of Pennsylvania's stadium at Franklin Field."

Regatta June 28

June 28—A regatta will be staged on the Schuylkill River under the direction of the Schuylkill Navy and Commodore "Jack" Kelly, head of the Democratic organization.

Olympic trials of the canoe class, lifeguard contests and a review of 150 shells will feature the regatta.

Each evening, band concerts will be given on Rebyburn Plaza, north of City Hall, and in Rittenhouse Square. Throughout the 10-day period, scores of luncheons and dinners will be held by special groups.

Many inquiries concerning historic spots of the Quaker City have been directed to the committee, and in a special memorandum it is shown that sight-seeing will be an effortless pastime.

Unlike most cities that possess rich historical backgrounds, Philadelphia shows no line of cleavage between the old and new quarters.

RIME AND ART SPREAD INDIAN LORE IN PARIS

PARIS—(UP)—French people are learning all about American Indian songs, dances and poetry from Os-Ko-Mon, Yakima tribe Indian whose name means green corn, and Paul Coze, French painter who has made a study of the Indians of New Mexico and Nevada.

The American Indian and the French painter have formed a "Lasso Club," where cowboy feats are practiced, as well as an Indian Art Center where Indian crafts, basket weaving and jewelry work is taught. Further, Os-Ko-Mon has published a book of poetry in French entitled "Green Corn Offering." The original volume was published in English but a French translation was made by the Marquise de Luppe.

Os-Ko-Mon is a dancer as well as a poet and has been giving a series of recitals in fashionable salons. He participated in "Red Skin Spectacle—From Snows to Snows," which was produced as a series of tableaux by Paul Coze.

The actors wore authentic Indian costumes brought from Canada, New Mexico and Arizona. Coze has held several expositions of his American paintings. He has made numerous portraits of Indians as well as scenes depicting their life. He likewise has acquired fame as a painter of Western rodeos.

Haste Delays Vacation

TOLEDO—(UP)—Two weeks' vacation salary of G. Burman Curry, as secretary of the city commission of publicity and effi-ency, was held up until he submitted a "legible copy" of the minutes of the commission's last meeting, for which he had left only his notes before departing.

Five years later, Columbus discovered the continent of America, covered the east coast of China, June 24, 1492.

COUNTY YOUTH ELECTED TO CAPITAL BOARD

Oakley Turner, Atlanta, to Serve on University Activities Group

Oakley Turner, Atlanta, Perry-town youth, has been honored by fellow-students at Capital university, Columbus, by election on the college activities board.

Another Pickaway-co student, Betty Fischer of Jackson-twp, niece of Superintendent of City Schools Frank Fischer, came near to the honor being second to Elsie Rupperecht of Marysville, who won the second place on the board.

Turner and Miss Rupperecht become members of the board of student government. The Marysville co-ed has the distinction of being the first girl to gain the post since the passing of a new Capital constitutional amendment calling for women to take part in student government.

Turner, a member of the football team, was victorious over Howard Yeager of Pittsburgh, Pa. for the honor.

The limitations of a hill-billy tenor are an improvement over the original. In view of the fact that the quality of the performance had reached the limit in one direction, any change of necessity had to be for the better.

AT THE GRAND
What is proclaimed as an entirely new type of murder mystery thriller comes to the Grand theatre on Wednesday, under the startling title of "The Walking Dead," a Warner Bros. production starring Boris Karloff.

The picture deals with the resurrection of a dead man, who walks again among his fellow-men, walking in a half dream, dazed, but possessing an unfailing and seemingly supernatural power to recognize the members of a band of crooks he had known before as the person who had framed him for murder and caused him to be electrocuted for a crime he did not commit.

BUSINESS MEN LEARN DETAILS FROM SPEAKER

FHA mortgage. In the event they purchase a home and pay all but $1,000, and lose everything, the administration has three years in which to sell the property. The balance over the amount unpaid is returned.

Figures from various cities showing the rapid strides being made in home construction were presented by Daley. He compared marriage records with records of home building to show the vast number of homes that will be constructed in the next few years. Daley has met with a committee of members on several occasions in recent weeks to discuss plans for a model home. Two plans of finance were considered. One was to conduct a lottery. This method has been used in a number of other Ohio cities and has been very successful. The second plan was to have 40 business men assume responsibility for the project and agree to pay $1 a month for any months during which the home was not rented. Members doubted if any of the men would ever have to pay toward the home as it would be sold or rented by the time the foundation was completed.

Purchaser Causes Change
Members favored the lottery plan but the report of a prospective purchaser caused a sudden change in the original plans.

Daley reported a model home was recently completed and on the two evenings it has been open 2,000 persons inspected the property. The Chamber of Commerce, as an organization, cannot finance the model home proposition, Mr. Daley explained. One member must be designated as a trustee to obtain a loan. The model home construction will not be a business proposition for profit. The organization is sponsoring the project to stimulate local business and home ownership.

After Daley's address a forum was conducted for the benefit of prospective home builders and contractors. One of the most important questions asked during the forum was whether a property would be constructed under the FHA plan without a bath and furnace. Daley replied the homes must have modern improvements or loans can not be obtained. Literature on the FHA program was distributed at the close of the dinner meeting, held in the American Hotel Coffee shop.

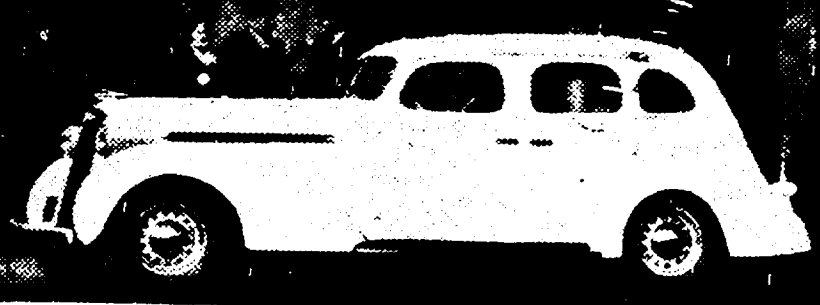

WATERLOO BOYS TO FACE JURORS ON RIOT CHARGE

IRONTON, May 27.—(UP)—Beryl Drummond and Wyman Roberts, two stars of the brilliant Waterloo basketball team which won the state Class B scholastic championship in 1934 and 1935, were under indictment on a riot charge here today. Drummond and Roberts were accused of being two of six boys who made threats on the life of Dr. J. C. Swango, president of the Waterloo School Board. All six were indicted. The indictments were secret and the county prosecutor, Roy Henry, declined to divulge the names of the other four.

newspaper for the city and county. Others of importance are to follow. The new tubular press prints up to sixteen pages in one section. This edition of today is in ten pages. The press that has been replaced had a capacity of eight pages and had today's paper been printed on it the edition would have been in two sections, one of six pages and the other of four.

Plate for Each Page
The press and its stereotype equipment weigh 71,000 pounds. Paper is fed into the press from rolls at one end and emerges from the folder at the other end, ready for the newboys. The press prints from stereotype plates cylindrical in shape and weighing about 40 pounds apiece. One plate is required for each page.

Stereotype plates are made in the following manner: First, the type form is locked in a steel frame known as a chase. This form is then placed in a mat roller, a machine that produces a paper mould of the entire page. This mould, or matrix as printers know it, is placed in a scorching to eliminate all moisture and then is placed in a casting box. Into the casting box is poured molten metal, heated to more than 600 degrees. The cast is cooled by running water, is removed from the casting box and run through another machine that trims off the ends, drills out the core and bevels the edges so it may be locked on the press. Stereotypes carry it to the chipping block where any excess metal that might print a black spot where no printing is to appear is chipped off. The form then is placed on the press.

A web of printing paper runs between the plate and a blanketed cylinder. Ink is transferred to the printing plate from a fountain by means of composition rollers, vibrators and ink drums. The Circleville Herald is proud of its new equipment that makes this newspaper plant one of the finest in the United States for a city of this size. You are invited to inspect the new press at any time. You may see it in operation any week day between 2:30 and 3 p. m.

COUNCIL MEETS, SIGNS CONTRACT WITH RAILROAD

Councilmen had a special meeting at 8:30 a. m. Wednesday to sign a contract with the Pennsylvania railroad relative to installation of a storm sewer on the company's right-of-way near Renick-ave.

The line is to run east from Renick-ave to connect with the old stone box sewer extending through the east end of the city. The contract listed 310 feet of 24-inch sewer on one side of the tracks and 190 feet of 36-inch pipe on the other.

WPA workers started installation of the sewer this week and were asked by railroad officials to suspend work until the contract was approved. Councilmen adopted a resolution approving the contract. Under the contract the city assumes all liability in connection with the sewer.

The contract was prepared by the railroad company and due to drainage benefits to the railroad no fee was charged for using the right-of-way.

HOCKING-CO FARM RAIDED BY LIVESTOCK THIEVES

The sheriff's department was asked by Hocking-co officers to be on the lookout for eight head of cattle stolen Tuesday night. The report listed three yearling roan bulls, five calves and a Jersey cow as stolen.

HARLAN CROUCH, SLAYER OF U. S. OPERATIVE, HELD

when officers broke into the apartment where an unidentified tipster had said Crouch would be found.

"How did I get in this place?" mumbled Crouch, yawning. "What time is it?"

Without bothering to reply, officers yanked him unceremoniously out of bed and took him away for questioning regarding Foster's death. Foster was slain in a running gun battle with two alcohol runners near St. John May 14. James Jacobs, his companion, was arrested in Chicago several hours after the shooting and named Crouch as the killer.

SCHOOL FUNDS READY IN WEEK

Distribution Under Ohio Foundation Scheduled

COLUMBUS, May 27.—(UP)—The second quarterly distribution of funds under the minimum foundation school law will be made early next week, officials of the state department of education said today.

The exact amount of cash to be paid out will be determined by the state auditor at the end of the present month when all proceeds credited to the particular fund have been checked. It was expected the distribution would amount to approximately $11,000,000.

AMERICANS IN DANGER IN ETHIOPIAN DISTRICT

KHARTOUM, Anglo-Egyptian Sudan, May 27.—(UP)—American missionaries at Sayo, southwestern Ethiopia, today were in grave danger as a result of turbulent tribal warfare in territory not yet occupied by Italian troops.

Unconfirmed dispatches from Gambella reported that the local Galla chief at Sayo, which is 30 miles, northwest of Enclave, has proclaimed himself king of Wall-lega province.

He has mobilized 3,000 warriors outside the town and is approaching Sayo, which has been abandoned to the Gallas by the former Ethiopian governor.

STORES CLOSE SATURDAY

All of Circleville's merchandising stores and public offices will be closed Saturday in observance of Memorial Day. The stores are remaining open Friday evening until 10 o'clock to accommodate shoppers. In order to provide employees with a day's holiday, there will be no publication of The Herald Saturday.

PASTORS TO END TWO-DAY CONFAB IN PICKAWAY-CO

Closing sessions of the pastoral convention of the Columbus Lutheran conference were held Wednesday afternoon in the Ashville church.

Election of officers was held at noon but the results were not available at press time. Dr. G. J. Troutman, pastor of Trinity Lutheran church, is president of the conference this year.

Forty pastors and professors took part in the conference which opened Tuesday morning. The sessions started at 10 a. m. with a worship service and Holy communion. Rev. E. E. Frange, Lancaster, read a paper on "Perfectionism" at the afternoon session. Rev. A. C. Schiff, Columbus, preached a service open to the public Tuesday evening.

The Rev. Mr. Troutman presented a paper on "Three-Fold Use of the Law" Wednesday morning. Rev. Emanuel Poppen, D. D., Columbus, was scheduled to speak at the closing session Wednesday afternoon.

GIANT BRITISH SHIP IN OCEAN

Queen Mary Leaves London for New York

ABOARD S. S. QUEEN MARY EN ROUTE TO NEW YORK, May 27.—(UP)—Great Britain's proudest ship put out to sea on her maiden voyage at 4:32 p. m., Greenwich time, today.

The super-liner, which is expected to smash all commercial speed records in a run to end Monday at Ambrose lightship, off New York, was edged slowly from her pier at Southampton, Eng., by six tugs. While half a million proud Britishers cheered her on her way her nose swung eastward toward the Isle of Wight and the passage to the open sea.

A favorable sea and a following wind awaited her beyond the jagged entrance of the Needles, gateway to Southampton.

CLYDE BEATTY ARRESTED

AFTER he had appeared in every city of any importance in the length and breadth of the nation, Clyde Beatty has been arrested on a cruelty charge. The complaint is cruelty to dumb animals, and it was filed by the chief agent of a Pittsburgh Humane Society. Many things have happened to Beatty, No. 1 citizen of Bainbridge, Ross-co. He has been scratched, mauled and bitten by the big animals he is charged with striking with iron rods. Now comes an arrest.

Beatty's act has thrilled hundreds of thousands of circus-goers. And it will continue to thrill them. Beatty is not near so cruel to the big cats as they are to him. Little, no doubt, will come from the Pittsburgh charge.

TAXES HERE AND THERE

ANNOUNCEMENT by Neville Chamberlain, British chancellor of the exchequer, that England's income tax rates are to be considerably increased as a result of the naval construction program has brought reiterated comparisons with the relatively moderate schedules effective in the United States.

It is said, for example, that a British family-man earning $5,000 a year pays a tax of $760, whereas the same man, if an American citizen and resident, he would pay but $52.

Worth remembering, however, is the fact that England has a highly centralized government, with practically no local taxes such as are paid, directly and indirectly, in the United States.

A Britisher would faint if he had to pay the dozens of State and municipal levies exacted from the ordinary American citizen.

Though an exact comparison is impossible, it is safe to say that the American whose salary is $5,000 is forced to hand over more of his income for governmental purposes than is the fortunate Englishman who is not beset on every hand by a decentralized army of tax-grabbers.

The supreme test of family devotion comes next month, when fond fathers and mothers, sisters and brothers, sit through three hours of graduation exercises waiting for little Elizabeth to receive her grammar school diploma.

World At A Glance

—By—
Charles P. Stewart

Anti-New Deal Democratic lawmakers are considerably perturbed by the difficulties Representative George Huddleston is experiencing in his campaign for re-nomination in the Birmingham congressional district of Alabama.

Representative Huddleston is in his eleventh term on Capitol Hill. Once nominated on the Democratic ticket, in that section, a candidate ordinarily is as good as elected, but occasionally there is competition for the nomination. Representative Huddleston never has had much, however; eleven times in succession he has won with scarcely a contest.

Now he has a fight on his hands.

A CONSPICUOUS EXAMPLE

His, too, is a conspicuous example.

Not only is he a veteran congressman, from a district where it was assumed that he was virtually unassailable; he is one of the oldest men in the national legislature. The "little giant from Alabama" was the fashion in which he was referred to him.

With the New Deal's advent, he was considered an organized labor swore by him—and Birmingham is a workingman's town.

OPPOSED F. D. R. MEASURES

A genuine liberal is what he really is, but he is an exceptionally capable economist, too, and many New Deal policies struck him as uneconomic; as false liberality, in fact.

He opposed them in debate and voted against them. He fought bitterly such measures as the anti-holding company bill.

What he said, for he is a vitriolic speaker, counted more than his lone ballot.

He is a terrific states' rightser. For instance, although his district is dry he voted against the 18th amendment. Not that he isn't a dry himself. He is, but only a statewide dry. Considering the section he comes from it was going some to vote against that amendment. The Rooseveltian tendency toward centralization worries him. And devaluation of the dollar added to his distress.

He has been especially irritating to the New Dealers because of his previous liberal record—not that he isn't a true liberal still, but he is anti-New Deal.

A LOSING FIGHT?

Being the outstanding Democratic anti-New Dealer in the house of representatives, the New Dealers naturally were most desirous to "get" him in the recent Alabama primaries.

They succeeded to a certain extent.

They did not beat him outright. He had a plurality of the primary votes, but not a majority-over-all, which is necessary to nominate.

Consequently there must be a run-off early in June between Huddleston and his leading opponent, who is Luther Patrick, a Birmingham New Dealer. There were several other New Deal candidates, eliminated because their votes were too small to signify.

But the New Dealers unite on Patrick. They will win, about 3 to 1.

CAUSES FEAR

Miscellaneous anti-New Dealers are upset by the reflection:

If so solid a candidate as Representative Huddleston is defeated by reason of his anti-New Deal attitude, what chance will they stand?

They do not care so much for Huddleston's prospects.

It is with their own thermometer that they gauge his outlook.

HOPKINS IN NEW DEPARTMENT?

WASHINGTON—Some of the bright inner circle boys have figured out how Harry Hopkins, the President's fair-haired favorite, can be made a Cabinet member.

They would create a new department, made up of independent bureaus and agencies from other departments, to be known as the Department of Social Welfare.

The idea is not a new one; it has been advocated by government reorganizers in the past.

There is a lot to be said for the idea. Scattered throughout the government structure are numerous agencies dealing with various phases of social welfare, which could advantageously be brought under a single administrative head.

For example: The Public Health Service is in the Treasury, the financial branch of the government. The Children's and Women's bureaus are in the Labor Department, while the Office of Education and the Board of Vocational Education are under the jurisdiction of the Interior Department. The Social Security Board and the Relief Administration are independent.

ELEVENTH DEPARTMENT

The inner circle proposal is to create a new (eleventh) Department out of all these units with allied interests.

Proponents of the plan claim that the President looks on it with favor—particularly the idea of putting Hopkins at its head. It is certain that the program will be seriously urged if Roosevelt is re-elected. However, it will be strenuously resisted by some of his Cabinet prima donnas.

Stripping the Labor Department of the Children's and Women's Bureaus would leave Madame Secretary Perkins with a skeleton department. Extremely sensitive about any diminution of her authority, she can be depended upon to fight the removal of the two bureaus from her control.

Secretary Ickes also has shown no disposition to give up any administrative jurisdiction.

On the other hand, Chairman John Winant of the Social Security Board is friendly to the idea of a Social Welfare Department, and would offer no objection to making his agency a part of such a set-up.

If created, the new Department would be one of the largest and most powerful divisions of the government, ranking with the Treasury and State Departments in importance.

The height of something or other is attained by the New Jersey temperance advocates who have raised a cry of protest against the whiskey and sugar diet used to sustain the spark of life in the little bodies of the quadruplets.

Among the things that make this old world an interesting and pleasant sort of place are quints and quads and a lot of other babies that come accompanied and alone.

Lady, Be Gallant

COPYRIGHT: RELEASED BY CENTRAL PRESS ASSOCIATION

READ THIS FIRST:

Joan Spencer, school teacher in a small town, is shocked to learn from her married sister, Dorothy, with whom she lives, that Stephen Winslow, a young physician practicing in New York, has announced his engagement. She and Win had expected to be married. By a mistake, Joan received a letter from Julian Sloane, noted playwright, granting her an interview for a secretarial position. When school closes, Joan drives to Sloane's luxurious summer home for the interview. A butler provides a swimming suit and tells her to join the party at the swimming pool.

(NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY)

CHAPTER 4

WHAT TO DO?
Was it "proper," was it "right"? Joan asked the question and laughed. She had never heard of a secretary-to-be being interviewed by a prospective employer in a swimming pool but she supposed that authors and playwrights might be different. And it did seem like a sound idea. She was so beastly hot and untidy.

"They're all at the swimming pool," the servant had said. That, at least, made it seem a little more conventional, and then the thought occurred to her that she had been mistaken for a guest. Certainly, she mustn't presume to that extent.

She wiped her face with her handkerchief, abandoned the hope of any help from powder, touched her mouth up with her lipstick and tidied her frock. Then, running a comb through her hair, she put her hat on sedately and went downstairs.

She stood undecided at the foot of the stairs. Should one yell "Yoo-hoo" to a butler or did one call one's self "Miss Winslow"? She compromised on a cough, which brought him instantly.

"Did you ring, Miss?" he asked tactfully.

"No... er... yes. I thought... rather... I'm not a guest. Could you tell Mr. Sloane I am here?"

"Miss Spencer?" He asked her name and Joan nodded. "Mr. Sloane is expecting you at the pool. If the swimming suits are not..."

"They're quite all right," she said hastily, having no idea whether they were, but impressed with his firmness in the matter of Sloane's expectations.

"I always thought authors never left their libraries," she murmured to herself, retracing her steps up the stairs and into the room.

This time she inspected it thoroughly and respectfully and decided she liked it. She sighed, wondering what girl wouldn't. Lemon and peach apple green, a fruit lover's dream in color, she said, approvingly, surveying the pale-yellow tulle curtains, the peach tinted crepe de chine-and-lace cover on the bed, the satin in the same shade that covered the low chairs and the thick pale-green carpet, a shade deeper than the light walls.

"Oh," she caught her breath when she opened the door to the bath. Shining black and silver met her eyes. The huge tub of apple green, the black dressing table covered with cutglass bottles, the shower curtain with great marine motifs, the three-slit full-length mirror outlined with lights subtly shaded. And thrown over the chair, a gaudy beach robe and sandals.

"I don't know what kind of an employer he'd make but he certainly has all the markings of a dandy host. How I envy Jane Spencer, whoever she is!"

Then Joan yielded to the overwhelming impulse. She stripped off her crumpled frock and scanty lingerie and reached for the white rubber suit.

It was very brief and fitted her perfectly. She looked at her clean outlines in the long mirror, at her slim legs and smooth shoulders. She prouetted twice and picked up the beach robe. Sliding her feet into the sandals, she waved to her mirrored self.

Once outside, however, she hesitated. It wasn't that Joan lacked poise.

Joan looked at herself in the long mirror.

It was her feeling that she was an impostor—pretending to be Jane Spencer in the first place and acting like a guest in the second place—that robbed her of her savoir faire as she stood hesitating on the porch of Julian Sloane's house.

"My good girl," she thought, "you need not feed bad about the first part of that because you are going to confess all!"

Then panic came upon her. What could she say to Julian Sloane? Could she expect him to believe that both she and the other girl had written to the Review for the same sort of thing? Fshaw, authors ought to expect the long arm of coincidence to do peculiar things!

But suppose he didn't? Wouldn't he think her an utter idiot if she said that she simply thought it was an adventure, that she was a bored school teacher, growing a little desperate with keeping thoughts of the man who had jilted her out of her mind, that she thought it would be a lark to follow it through?

Or could she say that she had read his books and always wanted to meet him and seized this opportunity, strange as it might seem to him? No, definitely, she couldn't do that. She wasn't the type of fluttering fan who could look up into a man's eyes with public adulation. She wouldn't know how to begin.

The thought intruded that Beatrice—Win's Beatrice—might be able to, and suddenly she knew all about Win and Beatrice. She might have known that Win would find for a girl who would give him the kind of little girl—and the great—big-wonderful-man admiration he seemed to need. What a fool she'd been to believe that he had cared enough about her to pass that up.

She could have done that, written him sentimental letters. But she had been honest, believing that he needed his chance and believing that he would come back as he had promised. Apparently honesty wasn't appreciated.

She felt a little better about her complete lack of it at the moment and listened quietly. She could hear voices. They were over to the right. She picked her way over the terraced lawn and came in full view of the private pool below her.

She watched it for a moment, saw the figures of six or eight people, saw the bright-hued canvas chairs, the umbrellas and tables, and then she saw that they were waving to her.

"When in Rome..." she said, and waved back. Then she ran down.

"Yowie! Somebody for our side!" a dripping youth ran to meet her. "Look here..." she started.

"I did," he said. "You look like a fine healthy girl and I want you on our side. Know everybody?"

"No," she said. "I came to see..."

"What's your name?" he asked, taking her robe.

"Joan Spencer and..."

"This is Joan Spencer," he yelled and turning to her, pointed them out in turn. "The lad playing walrus in the pink pants is Monty Grist. The girl with the red hair is Gracie Turner, giving advice about rates in Reno to Verna Delaney. Verna's going to divorce Tim. Look at him—he's the fat boy in the striped trunk—can you blame her?"

"And let's see..." He peered into the pool. "And if that isn't a corpse, it's Francine Tripler."

They waved, shouted and smiled at Joan, who was trying to assimilate all she was hearing. Grist was the great Hollywood director. Gracie Turner was a radio comedienne. Francine Tripler was a short story writer, and somewhere she had heard of Tim Delaney. But where was Sloane?

A lanky figure with more hair on his legs than on his head, which was protected by a battered straw hat, rose from its supine position to stare at her.

"Oh," she said weakly. "That is Mr. Sloane?"

Her companion howled with glee. "Lady, lady, that's our distinguished and impressive Thaddeus Cowles, these 20 years our most feared, hated and loved dramatic critic."

Joan sighed, ever so slightly. "Then you're Mr. Sloane?"

"I am not!" he said with pretended offense. "I'm Alex Garrity. Julian isn't here. Had to go to New York but he'll be back tomorrow."

"Well!" Joan reached for her robe. "In that case, I've got to go."

"You will not!" Gracie Turner caught Joan's hands behind her. "Are you all men or mice? We can't let this girl go. I've just thought up a wonderful game and she wants to leave."

Joan found herself gently propelled toward the edge of the pool and as she went over, she called back:

"Okay, I'll stay!"

Modern Life Disproves Some Ancient Theories

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

THE BLOOD vessels of the extremities, especially of the feet, can make trouble entirely out of proportion to their size. Both the arteries and the veins are subject to changes which bring both pain and disability with them.

Much more attention is being paid to these conditions than formerly, and a great deal of progress is being made in their treatment.

For instance, frostbite is essentially an affection of the small arteries of the extremities.

The best treatment of frostbite, paradoxically, can be carried out in the summer time and is preventive in character, designed to get the feet or hands in condition for the coming winter.

The object of treatment is to restore the circulation in the blood vessels of the extremities, creating new ones to replace those destroyed by the freezing. The best way to do this is by alternately sucking or pressing the affected limb—creating a positive and a negative pressure.

An apparatus called the Pavaex treatment unit has been devised for this purpose and now is widely used throughout the country. Those who had frostbite during our late severe winter are advised to get in touch with hospitals or physicians who have possession of one of these apparatuses, and submit to treatment regularly during the summer.

Vascular Massage Good
Besides treatment with the apparatus, forms of "vascular massage," as it is called, can be carried out by very simple means. One suggested is according to the following set of maneuvers:

(1) The limb to be treated is raised long enough for most of the blood to flow to the center of the body. Around this limb is placed a light rubber bandage, enough to make moderate constriction.

(2) The limb is now lowered and remains pale and free from blood.

(3) The bandage is removed, the anemia relieved, and the blood shoots in. The patient feels a pleasing warmth, and the skin becomes rosy, then red and warm.

(4) The limb is lowered over the side of the bed so that it hangs below the center of the body.

Each movement lasts one minute.

This is repeated five or six times, morning and evening, for a period of from 15 to 30 minutes.

QUESTIONS FROM READERS
H. E.: "I am a boy of 15 years and I would like to know what my weight should be if I am 5 feet 7 1/4 inches tall. Also what the height of a 15-year-old boy should be. Please tell me how to gain weight. I weigh 135 pounds."

Answer: Your proper weight is 130 pounds, according to tables. Therefore, it is not reasonable that you should expect to gain any more, but remember, as Benedict says, that the average is not necessarily the normal, and height and weight tables show only averages. A difference of 5 or 10 pounds either way is not particularly important.

Mary Rader, Mr. Heffner Plan Wedding June 11

Announcement Made of Marriage Date; Parties Planned

Mr. and Mrs. Boyd Horn, Town-at, announce the engagement and approaching marriage of Mrs. Horn's sister, Miss Mary Rader, to Mr. Thomas Heffner son of Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Heffner, Washington-twp.

They have chosen June 11 for the wedding, which will take place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Horn.

Miss Rader, a popular teacher at the Washington-twp school for the last three years, has been making her home with Mrs. Charles Nauman, S. Washington-st.

A number of parties have been planned in honor of the bride-elect.

Mrs. Burke Guest

Mrs. T. R. Burke, Pinckney-st., was an out-of-town guest when Mrs. E. C. J. Swanson, Columbus, entertained at a noon luncheon, at the Maramor, Tuesday.

Guests were invited for 12:30 o'clock. Following the luncheon two tables enjoyed the game of contract and when tallies were added Mrs. Burke was awarded the prize for top score.

U. B. Missionary Society

The Missionary society of the United Brethren church will hold its regular meeting at the community house, E. Main-st., Thursday evening at 7:30 o'clock. A large attendance is urged.

Royal Neighbors

Royal Neighbors will meet at the Modern Woodmen hall Thursday evening at 7:30 o'clock. All members are requested to be present.

Miss Hoffman Hostess

Miss Florence Hoffman, E. Union-st., entertained members of her bridge club at her home Tuesday evening. Mrs. Harvey Sweyer was invited as an additional guest.

Players progressed at three tables and prizes were merited by Mrs. Anna Ritt and Miss Magdalene Trump. Miss Ella Mason was winner of the traveling prize.

Miss Margaret Crist, N. Court-st., will entertain the club in two weeks.

Eastern Star

The regular meeting of the Order of Eastern Star was held at the Masonic temple, Tuesday evening, with 47 members and five visitors from Heber Chapter, Williamsport, present.

After the opening of the chapter, C. C. Chappelle, a past officer, was presented and welcomed by the worthy matron, Mrs. George E. Adkins.

Miss Marie Hamilton, assistant grand matron, was given a welcome to the East by the worthy matron. The initiation ceremony was presented in an impressive manner by the corps of officers. Mrs. T. E. Wilson received the degrees of the order and Mrs. Virgil Cress was received by affiliation.

The worthy matron then announced the annual inspection will be held Friday, June 5, preceded by a dinner at the American hotel coffee shop at 6:30 o'clock.

SATURDAY
DINNER AND DANCE PICKAWAY Country club for members and friends.

Members are requested to make reservations for the dinner with either Mrs. E. S. Shane or Mrs. Earl Price not later than Wednesday, June 3.

Plans were made for a breakfast at the Wardell party home on the morning after inspection, for all members of the chapter and guests who remain over night.

The committee in charge of the breakfast is Mrs. Carl Bennett, Mrs. Edward Helwagen and Mrs. R. F. Lilly. Reservations may be made with any one of the committee not later than Wednesday, June 3.

After the close of chapter, refreshments were served in the dining room. Mrs. George E. Hammel was chairman of the refreshment committee.

Yo-Yo Club

Members of the Yo-Yo sewing club enjoyed a delightful evening at the home of Mrs. C. O. Kerns, W. Union-st.

A covered dish dinner was enjoyed in the large back yard and was concluded with the serving of ice cream as a special treat by the hostess.

The remainder of the evening was spent in the living room in sewing. Several musical numbers were played by Polly Jane Kerns, a guest of the club. Mrs. John Kerns was another guest.

Evening Bridge

Mrs. Paul Helwagen and Miss Marguerite Fohl were additional guests when Mrs. James Adams, S. Court-st., entertained members of her bridge club.

Two tables of players enjoyed the game of contract and when scores were tallied, Mrs. Ralph Wallace and Miss Fohl were high.

Mrs. Dunlap Hostess

Wardell's party home was the scene of a charming noon-day luncheon Tuesday when Mrs. John

Circular Needle Speeds Making of Versatile Two-Piecer

PATTERN 5601

Take a tip from Alice Brooks, and begin at once on this flatteringly cool two-piecer. Done mainly in stockinette stitch, the sunburst yoke is in a lacy stitch and every bit as easy as it looks. It's ever so smart in nubby cotton yarn, Shetland floss or rayon and wool. The matching skirt makes it a smart two-piecer.

In pattern 5601 you will find instructions for making the blouse and skirt in sizes 16-18 and 38-40.

Dunlap, Sr. entertained for the pleasure of her house guests, Miss Flora Dunlap and Mrs. Ethel Holmes of Des Moines, Iowa.

The tables were attractive with garden flowers for the three-course dinner. Following the dinner, guests returned to the home of Mrs. Dunlap where a very pleasant afternoon was spent socially.

Guest list included Mrs. George Foreman, Miss Mary Foreman, Mrs. Tecumseh Millar, Mrs. Tom Brown, Miss Elizabeth Renick, Miss Sadie Brunner, Miss Grace Moodie, Mrs. W. T. Ulm, Mrs. Helen Anderson, Miss Bertha Bowers, Mrs. Charles H. May, Mrs. John H. Dunlap, Jr., Mrs. Renick Dunlap of Kingston and Miss Bess Parker, Columbus.

Mrs. Leo McClure Entertains

An enjoyable evening was spent at the home of Mrs. Leo McClure, E. Main-st., when she assembled members of her bridge club Tuesday.

Two tables were in play, prizes for high scores being awarded Mrs. McClure and Mrs. Robert Rader.

A dainty salad course was served by the hostess.

Mrs. Yates Hostess

Members of her two table bridge club were pleasantly entertained at the home of Mrs. Melvin Yates, E. Franklin-st., Tuesday evening. Guests enjoyed the game of contract and Mrs. Adrian Yates, who was invited as an additional guest, received the prize for high score.

Favorite Recipe

MRS. MARY K. BOWER, 145 Pleasant-st.

WHIPPED CREAM CAKE

One cup whipping cream
One cup granulated sugar
Two eggs
One teaspoon vanilla
One and one-half cups cake flour

Two teaspoons baking powder
One-fourth teaspoon salt

Whip the cream until slightly thickened but not enough to peak. Fold in the sugar, then the beaten eggs and vanilla. Add the flour sifted with the baking powder and salt. Mix until smooth. May be baked in a sheet, or as cup cakes.

YELLOW JACKET ICING

Two cups sugar
One-half cup water
One-fourth cup light corn syrup
Four egg yolks
One teaspoon lemon extract
One-fourth teaspoon salt

Two tablespoons or more thick cream.

Cook sugar and syrup until threads spin from spoon. Beat egg yolks until thick and lemon colored. Add salt. Pour the syrup over the eggs, beating until cool and fudge like. Add the cream and flavoring. If it seems too thick add more cream.

ENGLISH TEXT BOOK COMMITTEE CONFERS

The English text book committee of Pickaway-on schools met Tuesday afternoon in the school office to prepare recommendations. These recommendations will be sent to the county board for approval at the next regular meeting, June 3, and then forwarded to the various school boards.

Members of the committee are Carl Bennett, superintendent of Walnut-twp school, chairman; Harold K. Costlow, superintendent at Atlanta; M. C. Warren, superintendent of Pickaway-twp; Eunice Dennis, Duval, and Mrs. Agnes Wertman, Deercreek-twp.

$170 SUIT SETTLED

The $170 suit of Nellie Stofor, W. High-st., against C. A. Leist as administrator of the estate of Agnes M. Strahm, has been settled and dismissed with no record under an entry on file in common pleas court Wednesday morning. The suit was for nursing services.

Every day or so we read of a couple that must have been happy before the wife became prominent.

Barrymore to Head List Of Ballew's Guest Stars

Schumann-Heink, Robert Wildhack and Many Others to Appear Saturday; O. S. U. Band to Appear

John Barrymore, "Mother" Schumann-Heink, Comedian Robert Wildhack, Frank Shields, the tennis star, and Joan Davis, Hollywood comedy singer, have all accepted Smith Ballew's invitation to be guest stars in Chateau Saturday. The big full hour variety will be heard over a WEAF-NBC network at 8:30 p. m. (EST) with Victor Young's orchestra as the musical feature.

Barrymore, who makes his fourth appearance in Chateau with this performance, will do a scene from one of his most successful pictures "A Bill of Divorcement." In addition to the drama he will interview Frank Shields in a human interest chat on tennis.

In World of Entertainment

Mme. Ernestine Schumann-Heink, who for fifty years was a star of opera in this country and abroad and more recently has become the beloved "Mother" Schumann-Heink of radio and the movies, will sing a group of numbers when she comes to the microphone as Ballew's guest. She first came to the Chateau to sing "Stille Nacht" in Wallace Beery's radio Christmas party last year.

Robert Wildhack, the distinguished "professor of tickleology," is another Chateau veteran. This is his third appearance. He first came to the program to do his "snoring" routine. That was so successful he was brought back as an expert on "laughs" and next Saturday he demonstrates all the varieties of "hello." There will be a "hello" for every occasion, according to Wildhack.

Shields, for several years ranked among the first ten players in the country, has played in all the important tournaments in the United States and Europe. Barrymore, who will ask the questions in this interview, plays tennis for recreation.

Joan Davis, new Hollywood singer, has just signed a picture contract with RKO. She will sing comedy tunes in the Chateau Broadcast.

Dolores Costello

After an absence of several years, Dolores Costello shot back to her former position as one of Hollywood's favorites in one picture and is now working with George Raft in "You're for the Askes"

SUMMER BROADCASTS

The series of outdoor concerts by the Ohio State University Concert Band, directed by Professor Eugene J. Weigel, is being broadcast at 8 p. m. each Wednesday over WOSU, campus station. Tonight's program will be lengthened to forty-five minutes, since the station's planned broadcasts of the band have been interrupted by special features. The concerts are staged in the hollow near Mirror Lake on the campus, with other student musical groups assisting.

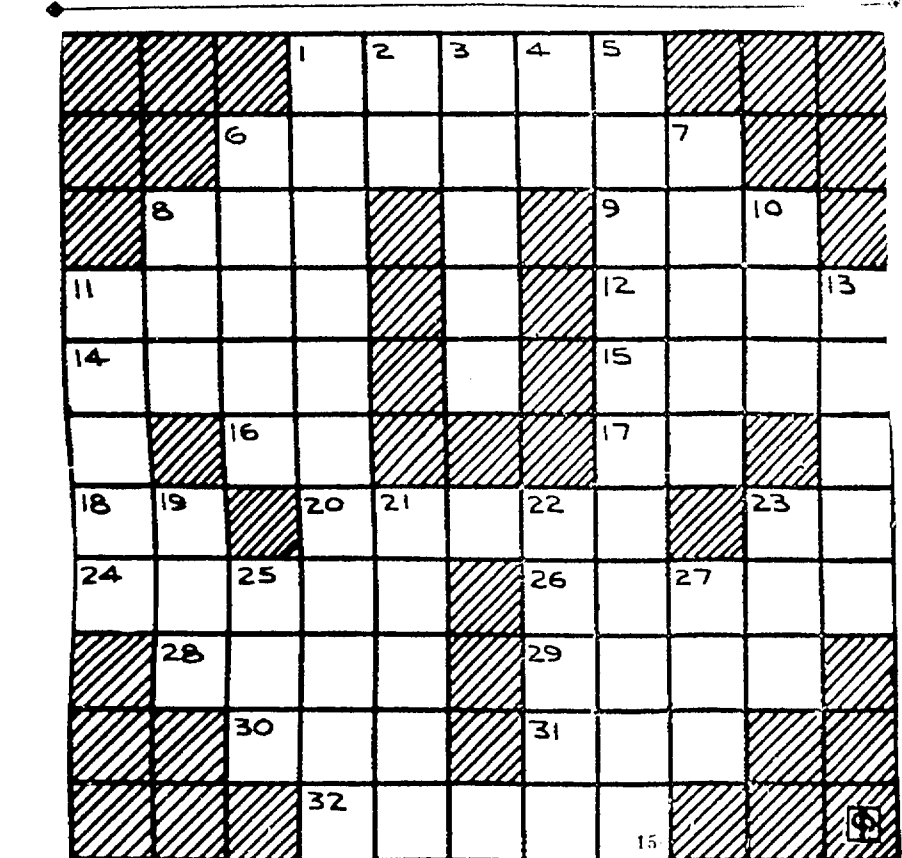

"Hippocrates: Father of Medicine" will be dramatized in a special program by the WOSU Players from the Ohio State University station at 8:45 p. m. The play was written by Mary Elizabeth Schwartz, Portsmouth, Ohio, graduate, especially for the WOSU Players. Friel Heimlich is the director.

Final program of the season's Student Frolics will be heard over WOSU, Ohio State University, at 9:15 p. m. Wednesday. An all-student cast is featured in the show, which is sponsored by Ohio Staters, Inc., a group of leading students on the campus. The program has introduced ten new student "acts" to radio audiences and four original scripts. Fritz Evers and his Ohio State Collegians, a ten-piece student orchestra are featured musicians on the program.

American art reflects the cockiness felt by the country for having overcome the depression. Homer Saint Guadens, fine arts department, Carnegie Institute, Pittsburgh.

CIRCLEVILLE OILS COUNT 3 TIMES TO BEAT FEEDS

Lead Changes Several Times in 10-9 Contest; Another Game Tonight

A wild throw that struck Joe Barnes on the arm and rolled into the outfield permitted the Circleville Oils to defeat the Eshelman Feeds in a hectic softball game Tuesday evening. The score was 10 to 9.

Barnes was running to second base when a peg to catch him went astray. The Eshelman outfield was not on its toes so Joe went the whole way around the sacks.

The Oils overcame leads twice in order to win the game. The Eshelman outfit led 7 to 3 at the end of six innings, but the oil gang went to work to score four in the seventh to go ahead by a single marker. The eighth saw the score remaining the same but the Eshelmans tallied twice in their half of the ninth to snatch the lead.

Ruger Connects

The Oils managed to chase three runs over in their half, Barnes being the last man to cross the plate. In this last inning, Terhune doubled with one out, Trimmer was safe on an error and Ruger smacked a double to the outfield to tie up the game.

Bill Hegele started for the Oils but was treated roughly in the fourth when four runs crossed the rubber. Terhune took up the duties and was the winning hurler. Leasure went the whole way for the losers, proving tough in the early frames but weakening in the last three sessions.

Ruger, behind the bat for the Oils, proved one of the outstanding players in the league.

Tonight finds the remaining teams of the league, the Eagles and Pickaway Dairies in action. Opposing pitchers will probably be Callahan and Maloney.

Callahan and Maloney

On the rosters of the two teams are: Eagles, Stevens C, Callahan p, Butler K, E. Garner 3b, Hutcherson ss, Smith 2b, Thompson rf, Watson cf, Zeimer 1b, Pug Fowler, Owens and Thompson reserves; Pickaway Dairy, Eby, Snyder, Roby, Farnough, Maloney, Dumm, Jenkins, Strawser, Wick, Delong, and Glitt.

The collection taken last night by Joe Glitt amounted to $3, the best in several years.

On the teams competing Tuesday were: Oils, Hickey ss, Whaley 2b, Terhune lf-p, Trimmer 1b, Reger C, Barnes cf, Brungs 3b, Denney rf, Hegele p-lf; Eshelman Feeds, Tomlinson ss, Dewey 2b, Greeno 3b, Valentine lf, Purcell 1b, Brannon c, Rihl cf, Leasure p, Strawser rf.

Score by innings was:
Eshelman. 0 0 0 4 3 0 0 2 — 9
Oils 0 0 2 0 0 1 4 0 3 — 10

About This And That In Many Sports

Bird Fight Brief

Columbus' Red Birds took part in the shortest war of the current season Tuesday—It lasted about one hour—To start the fireworks, Heinie Schubbe, former big leaguer, was optioned to the Birds by the Cardinals, which is against the law since May 15, the deadline for such activities, is past—As soon as he learned of the move, President Red Trautman, who headed the birds a year ago, said Schubbe's name would not be put on the eligible list—That ended the war because Schubbe has now been sent to Houston.

Red Sox Nearer

Boston "Gold" Sox with Wes Ferrell twirling went to within a half game of first place in the American loop race Tuesday—Ferrell beat Ruffing to move the Sox nearer to the leading Yankees.

Tubby May Return

If all goes well from now on, George "Tubby" Vierebome, one of Circleville's best-lit young men, will return to his coaching job at Dalton next fall—"Boom" was forced to give up his work when stricken by illness, but he has made nearly a complete recovery—The Dalton board should be complimented for holding his job for him.

Dime in the Red

The city softball league is off to a good start, but how long it will continue to function depends on the fans—Monday evening when a big crowd saw a good game only $1.40 was tossed into the hat—The league lost a dime in the transaction—Fifty cents was given the hat-passer and 50 cents was given each umpire, making a total of one and one-half bucks—Not a profitable evening.

Talking Up Fight

The bugs are starting to talk up the Louis-Schmeling bout of a couple of weeks hence—Dave Walsh, Gotham writer, says Joe looks loggy; wonder what Maxie will look like after the go—You never can tell, though, the Uhlan might be tough for the negro, and again, he might not be—* * * Methinks Maxie Baer should remain at the head of his orchestra, all he'll need to dodge now is highball glasses.

YANKES TO LOSE DICKEY AFTER MCNAIR ACCIDENT

BOSTON, May 27.—(UP)—Bill Dickey, aggressive, hard-hitting catcher and sparkplug of the New York Yankees, was lost to his team for at least two weeks and possibly a much longer period today as the New Yorkers fought to protect their slim lead at the head of the American league.

The peppery receiver, whose .358 batting mark and nine home runs had played a major part in the Yanks' early-season bombardments, suffered serious internal injuries in a collision with Shortstop Eric McNair of the Boston Red Sox yesterday as the teams opened a three-game series at Fenway park.

At St. Elizabeth's hospital, where he was taken, his hurts were diagnosed as an injury, possibly a rupture, to the left kidney, bruised abdominal muscles and hemorrhages. Dr. Edward J. (Eddie) O'Brien, Red Sox physician, said that while the condition was serious it was not dangerous.

Sportsmen to Raise 1,200 Pheasants

Before June 15 Pickaway-co sportsmen will be nursemasters to 1,200 baby pheasants.

Fred Harlowe, Newark, district game commissioner, was here this week and left supplies for 30 additional pens. When these pens are completed there will be a total of 40 at the home of Clarence Francis, game officer, on the Ringgold-pk.

The ten pens now in use have 30 pheasants each, sent here last Saturday from Newark when only one-day old. Before June 15, the state will send 900 more chicks.

The pens are 56 inches long, 18 inches high and 24 inches wide. They are built on legs 18 inches from the ground. One end of the pen can be closed and is equipped with a special feather board and heated with an electric lamp. Hardware cloth is used for the sides and bottom of the runway.

Pickaway-co is one of two counties selected to try out the pheasant-raising experiment. Knox-co will try raising 200 birds with Bantam hens in the same type of pens.

Pheasant raising in the counties was suggested to Lawrence Woodell, head of the conservation department by Mr. Harlowe. Eight-week-old pheasants cost the department $1.70 each. Harlowe believes his plan to raise pheasants in Ohio counties will reduce this cost to about 50 cents each.

The Pickaway Farmer's and Sportsman's association agreed to furnish feed for 300 pheasants. All equipment for the experiment is being furnished by the conservation department.

If the experiments conducted this year are successful the plan will be extended to every county in Ohio and the conservation department has promised 100,000 eggs for distribution during 1937.

"Pickaway-co was chosen for the experiment as it needs pheasants," Harlowe said. "Last year I hunted in this county for one day with two fine bird dogs and never scared up a bird. You have an active sportsman's association here and I have a good man in this county to work out this experiment. We want to make it a success."

"At least two-thirds of the birds raised here will be released here and this will be done when they are eight-weeks old. After the birds are two weeks old there is little danger of them dying."

The birds are being fed Turkey Starstena furnished by the Ralston-Purina Co. Construction of the 30 additional pens was started Tuesday morning.

BASS CAUSES DEATH

CUMBERLAND, Wis., May 27.—(UP)—Joe Hecht, 28, hooked a large bass, hauled in the line, became so excited he tangled his feet in it, fell overboard, drowned.

TOLEDO SCOTT FAVORED TO RETAIN STATE HONOR

COLUMBUS, May 27.—(UP)—Toledo will be presented the opportunity here Friday and Saturday of becoming the second school in the history of the Ohio High School Association to win five track and field championships.

Scott will be heavily favored when the annual state meet is held this week-end. In addition to the track title, championships will be awarded in golf, tennis and baseball.

The dominant power in Ohio scholastic track circles for the two years, Scott will be top-heavy favorite here. A triumph would enable the Toledoans to join Lakewood as a five time winner of the state crown.

Scott took its first two championships in 1917 and 1918 and then added another pair in 1934 and 1935. Lakewood was the victor in 1922-23-24-25-30.

Coach Dave Brown's team has shown great strength this season. Scott won the Annual University of Toledo Indoor relays, the Ohio Wesleyan Relays, the Salem Relays and was second to Sandusky in the Mansfield relays.

To Sandusky is conceded the best chance of blasting Scott's title chances. However, Coach Bob Whittaker's squad isn't believed to have enough all-around power to accomplish the feat.

CAMPBELL NEARLY READY

BOSTON, May 27.—(UP)—Hopes of Cleveland's faltering American league Indians were bolstered today by announcement of Bruce Campbell's physician that the outfielder will be back in the game "by July 1—if not sooner."

CARNERA, FACING RING OBLIVION, TO BE GRAPPLER

NEW YORK, May 27.—(UP)—The end of the amazing ring saga of Primo Carnera, giant circus freak who was maneuvered into the heavyweight title, seems likely to take place tonight at Ebbets field where the Italian behemoth faces Leroy Haynes, the "Brown Howitzer" from South Bend, Ind., in a return 10-round bout.

Haynes, who will be making his New York debut, knocked out Carnera in 53 seconds of the third round at Philadelphia last March and is a 13-5 favorite to repeat the trick. If he does, Carnera will sail on the Conte De Savoia for his home in Segual, Italy, June 13, and never fight again.

The giant Italian, who has been fleeced out of most of the fortune he made in the American ring, already has tentatively accepted an offer to become a wrestler in Europe.

CLASS D LOOP LOSES ANOTHER OF ENTRANTS

COLUMBUS, May 27.—(UP)—Membership in the Class B, Ohio State baseball league had been reduced to four cities today and the first half season shortened from July 4 to June 14.

New Philadelphia directors withdrew their support of a club in the league last week. The club was kept temporarily on the road by the league and then dropped altogether yesterday when it was announced Jack Orr had withdrawn his franchise at Mansfield.

The league will operate with Tiffin, Fostoria, Sandusky and Fremont until June 14, Harry Smith, president, announced today.

OHIO UNIVERSITY AGAIN TIES WESLEYAN'S TEAM

ATHENS, May 27.—(UP)—Ohio university had climbed back into a tie with Ohio Wesleyan for the Buckeye conference baseball lead today.

The Bobcats gained the position following its 3 to 1 victory here yesterday over Marshall college, the defending champion.

Ohio U., and Wesleyan have each won seven league games and lost two.

A home run by George Goehk in the fifth inning which scored one man ahead of him provided Ohio U. with its winning margin.

ALI BABA TOSSES BIG SANOOKE KEEPING TITLE

NEW YORK, May 26.—(UP)—Ali Baba, Detroit's claim to superiority in the wrestling business, retained his title to the heavyweight championship here last night by defeating Big Chief Sanooke, huge Cherokee Indian.

The pot-bellied little Turk conceded a foot in stature and 135 pounds in weight to the Indian, but handled him just about as he pleased before 3,000 fans in Madison Square Garden.

The other delegates to the Republican national convention in Cleveland will be blameless in the presence of Hauptmann's friend.

ALL VETERANS URGED TO APPEAR IN MAY 30 PARADE

INITIAL EVENT IS SCHEDULED TO START AT 9

Mayor Graham to Act as Marshal for Procession to Cemetery

All veterans, regardless of what war they took part in or what organization they are affiliated with, are urged to take part in the Memorial Day parade. Officials of the American Legion, sponsor of the annual celebration, today issued an appeal to all service men to honor their comrades by appearing in the procession. Bryan J. Custer, deputy U. S. marshal, is in charge of arrangements for the procession. The day's festivities will start at 9 a. m. when the Howard Hall post drum corps marches up Pickaway-st to the High-st cemetery to honor war dead buried there. The procession will then return to Memorial Hall and the bigger parade to Forest cemetery will be formed.

The line of march will be as short as possible, with the celebrators moving to Court-st on Main and north on Court direct to the cemetery.

Daniels Is Speaker
Albert L. Daniels, prominent Greenfield civic leader, will deliver the principal address at the cemetery.

Fred Dauenhauer, commander of Howard Hall post American Legion, Wednesday announced the order of march for the parade.

It follows:
Highway patrol and city police; marshal, Mayor W. J. Graham; honorary marshal, George Trimmet, surviving member of the Grand Army of the Republic; vice marshals, A. J. Lyle of the Spanish-American war, Frank Little of the American Legion, and Roy Norris of Veterans of Foreign Wars; colors and color guard, firing squad.

Medical detachment Ohio National Guard, legion drum corps, Grand Army of the Republic, Spanish-American war veterans, Veterans of Foreign Wars, auxiliary of Veterans of Foreign Wars, American Legion, Sons of the American Legion, High school band, motor transport of Ohio National Guard, Daughters of Union Veterans, Girl Scouts, Boy Scouts, Junior band, and school children.

Quirks of Wind Puzzle

Circleville physicians reported Wednesday that five little girls were added to Circleville's population Tuesday. The parents are Mr. and Mrs. Chester Blue, Pleasant-st; Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Thomas, E. Mill-st; Mr. and Mrs. William Arledge, Clinton-st; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Neff, R. F. D., and Mr. and Mrs. John Russell, Weldon-ave.

Mrs. Lewis Jenkins, Watt-st, was discharged from Berger hospital Wednesday. She recently underwent a major operation and is well on the road to recovery.

Mrs. Ella Seyfert, S. Pickaway-st, is resting well after her major operation in Berger hospital Tuesday.

Mrs. W. Joe Burns, Pinckney-st, underwent a tonsil operation in a Columbus hospital Tuesday.

Legionnaires are considering plans for an outdoor meeting June 3.

Mrs. Mac Mader received word of the death of her grandfather which occurred at his home in Mt. Vernon, Ind., Monday. Mr. and Mrs. Mader left for Mt. Vernon Tuesday, and will remain for the funeral services which will be held Wednesday morning. They expect to return the last of the week.

Dr. A. C. Griffey, former superintendent of Lancaster school, has been elected president of Central Normal college, Danville, Ind.

Remember When?

Circleville was lashed by a 100-mile-an-hour wind in 1918.

On Aug. 12, 1918, Circleville was in the center of one of the worst wind and electrical storms in local weather history. Heavy property damage resulted.

Roofs of the mills and elevators of the Circleville Milling Co., on Mill and Main-sts were torn off, trees were uprooted, and the lightning started a straw fire at the strawboard plant causing damage estimated at $5,500.

The barn of George M. Pontius, Circleville-twp., was unroofed and one owned by Walter Bartholomew in Pontius Lane was moved two feet off its foundation. The barn of John C. Shannon, Madison-twp., was destroyed by fire at a loss of $1,700.

COUNTIES URGE RELIEF CHANGE

Three Suggested Plans Advanced to Solons

COLUMBUS, May 27.—(UP)—Three important changes in the present poor relief law were recommended yesterday before the house finance committee by spokesmen for the recently organized Ohio counties' association. The proposed changes, presented by a delegation of 20 county commissioners and relief directors representing the 72 counties in the association, were embodied in resolutions adopted at a recent meeting.

They were:
1. Increase the amount allowed for administrative expenses from five per cent to a maximum of 10 per cent.
2. Allocate state relief funds among the counties on the basis of their respective needs, instead of the present formula basis.
3. Repeal the provisions requiring the counties to furnish 25 per cent of the money needed for relief after next month.

The resolutions were submitted by J. T. Hogsett, president of the association, who is relief director of Huron county. Other officers are: S. Carr, Montgomery county commissioner, who is vice president; and M. W. Reiss, Seneca county relief director, secretary.
